

MR. CARLISLE TALKS.

Convinced That Revenue Reform has Gained Strength.

His Opinion of the Effects of the Recent Elections.

The Labor Element in the Campaign -Not Antagonistic to the Reform Views.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Speaker Carlisle, accompanied by his wife, arrived at the Palmer House this morning. He will be the leading speaker at to-night's banquet of the Iroquois Club. During the morning he courteously but firmly declined numerous requests for newspaper interviews, but at noon consented to waive decision in favor of the corres-pondent of the United Press.

HE WILL TALK.

He said that he had already so fully expressed his views upon the recent election that he had decided to speak no more upon the point in the belief that this constant reiteration of opinions not only had a tendency to make a public man appear ridiculous, but also to in-dicate that he was unduly desirous of forcing his opinions upon the public. With this prologue the Speaker went on to say:

"While it is true that at first I was inclined to regard the result of the recent elections as unfavorable to the cause of revenue reform. I can say now for the first time after looking over the field and considering the advices which just as strong as they are at the present time. The loss therefore falls on the Democrats who are opposed to reform rather than on those favoring it, and the results therefore

A DISTANT VICTORY for the reform element. Certain papers have pointed with glee to the fact that certain supporters of revenue reform in the present House failed of re-nomination, but they studiously omit to add that their successors are with us on that issue, and that the change was simply that of men and not of principles. There is another point upon which I have not previously spoken. The protectionist papers throughout the country are loudly claiming that the new labor vote which has been dethe new labor vote which has been de- private secretary, the following televeloped in certain parts of the country gram: is another crushing blow at Morrison's views, or, as I prefer to call it, at revenue reform. Nothing can be farther from the facts as they exist. In very few of the elections did this issue enter at all, and if

of the part of the country voted in directly against our principles, they did Mrs. John McElroy, 121 Lexington avenue, New York City: just the opposite at the other end. For instance, in New York, Henry George, an avowed freetrader, gets over 60,000 workingmen votes; while here in Chicago, in one of the strongest protectionist districts in Illinois, Congressman Lawler, who was a thick and thin opponent of Morrison's bill, gets through barely by the skin of his teeth. Setting these facts against the defeat of Morrison, Hurd and other reformers it will ter. be seen that if the protectionists are go-ing to use the labor vote as an argument, they must admit that the account is about equally balanced, even if it is not to our advantage, and they must also admit that where the labor vote has been most fully developed the preponderance, as in New York and Chicago, has been in favor of our views. These are facts, and stubborn ones, and tend to justify my opinion that the result of the recent elections has not only been favorable to the cause of revenue reform, but that cause is stronger in and out of the House than ever."

HE IS NOT CHAGRINED.

In response to personal questions the speaker said: "The reports that I have been chagrined by the result of the nomination in New York City, from election in my own district are purely 1855 to 1863, and died near Albany in sensational. Had my opponent gained 1875. Young Arthur's early education on the vote against me at the prior was received in the Vermont common for the allegation that the result was a Union College, at Schenectady, N. Y petitor did not poll one-half of the opposition vote which was deposited at the previous election, whilethe natural opinion of my own supporters that my seat was not in any danger accounts for the lack of netivity which resulted in the Democratic decrease in the Democratic decrease in the Democratic decrease in the Democratic vote. Half the difference between my supporters in 1884 and 1886 gone over to my opponent mobody would deny the significance of the result, but as he polled only about half thevote given to Mr. Landrum in 1884, there is no need to waste words in explanation. As to a contest of my seat I have no advices, but I can only say that there is not the slightest grounds whatever for such a course."

Ex-President Arthur Dead.

New York, Nov. 18.—Ex-President Arthur died at his home, No. 123 Lex-ington avenue, at 5 o'clock this morning. He had long been suffering from Bright's disease, but he died of apoplexy resulting from the bursting of a blood ressel which caused paralysis of the whole right side.

HIS LAST HOURS.

On Tuesday last the President felwell and was very bright. He atcheartily of some clams and signed his name to several communications. also gave orders regarding transactions of interest to him. Dr. George Peters, the family physician, called at 7 p. m. and was highly pleased at the condition of his patient. The attendant left the ex-President after 12:30. He was then sleeping. When the attendant entered his room yesterday morning he found him lating on his right side. found him lying on his right side breathing heavily. He spoke to him, but received no answer. He placed his hand gently on his shoulder but could not arouse him. The attendant became alarmed and summoned young Mr. Aralarmed and summoned young Mr. Arthur who hurried a messenger to the residence of Dr. Peters. He responded quickly to the call. After examining Mr. Arthur, Dr. Peters stated that the President's case was hopeless as the cause of his condition was a stroke of appoplexy, caused by the bursting of a blood vessel, also causing the whole right side of the body to become paralyzed. Word was sent immediately to his nearest relatives and friends, and his nearest relatives and friends, and those who could arrived before his death. Mr. Arthur remained in an un-conscious condition all day yesterday. His breathing became more and more labored, but dissolution was very slow, and it could not be told to any certainty when he would breath his last. His immediate relatives were in and out of the room where the ex-President lay, and throughout the night. There was

NO SCENE AT THE BEDSIDE. and at the time death occurred it was not expected. Although Miss Nellie knew that her father was quite ill, the news of his death came like a sudden shock to her and she was completely overwhelmed with grief. Her aunt, Mrs. M. Elroy, led her to the bedside where the ex-President lay, when the young orphan's tears fell copiously and she was led away inconsolable. Young Mr. Ar-thur took his father's death very hard, but hore up manfully. He had been a companion to his father and his death moved the faithful son to tears.

Ex-President Arthur at the time of his death was in his 57th year. The funeral will take place from the church of the Heavenly Rest on Fifth avenue near 45th street, at 9'clock on Saturday morning and the remains will be burried in the family plot in the Albany Rural Cemetery.

THE NEWS

I have received from different parts of the country, I am convinced that the cause has gained strength both in the House and in the country generally since the last election.

Of the 184 Democrats in the present House 35 voted against the Morrison bill. In the new House the Democrats will number 172 or 173 and the supporters of revenue reform will be just as strong as they are at the present time. The loss therefore falls on the

In 1865 Mr. Arthur resumed the practice of law in New York, meanwhile taking an active part in politics, and becoming noted as a Republican organizer and manager, he was appoint-organizer and manager, he was appointed Collector of Customs for the port of New York, by President Grant, in November, 1871, and was reappointed in 1875, the Senate confirming this appointment without the usual reference. After the accession of President Hayes, a successor was nominated, but the Senate refused to confirm, and he was only removed from office by suspension in July, 1878. He then returned to the practice of law, was active in politics, aided the nomination of Gov. Cornell, was a delegate to the Chicago Republi-can Convention in 1880, when Garfield was nominated for the Presidency and Mr. Arthur was named for Vice Presi-

to Albany and endeavored to secure their re-election, and it was during this period that President Garfield was shot; but during the lingering illness of the troversies, fittingly expressing, in com-being officially notified of President Garfield's death, Mr. Arthur took the oath of office as President at 2 a. m.

Sept. 20, 1881, repaired to Long Branch and accompanied the remains to Wash-ington, where he formally took the oath of office before the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Sept. 22, and his first official act was the appointment of a day of mourning for his predecessor. Regarding President Arthur's administration it is unnecessary to speak at length. It was clean, honest and manly, and is thorough keeping with his pri vate life. His personal integrity was unquestioned. As Quartermaster-Gen-eral of New York during the early years of the war, with its large contracts and immense purchase, his accounts were audited at Washington without deduc-tion; he refused all offers of presents; left the office poorer than when he took it; was never suspected of profiting his

The Question Officially Brought to the Attention of the President.

In accordance with section 1091, Revised Statutes of 1880 with reference to the Semi-Annual collections of Taxes, the entire amount of Delinquent and one-half of all of the resimple taxes and all road taxes, must be paid by the 20th of December next. If the half taxes charged on personal property is not paid by the 20th of December next, the whole amount will be due and must be collected by distress as heretofore. If the tax charged against real estate is not paid by the 20th of December next, the same will be charged with a penalty of 15 per cent., which, together with the other half of said taxes, must be paid by June 20th, 1887.

Tax-payers are requested to bring their last year's receipts and prepare themselves with change. Remember that early payments will relieve you from the crowd of the last week. Road receipts are received at the collection of December Taxes only. There will positively be no receipts laid in the drawer, so do not ask me for it and you will not be refused.

They fly from one part to another without a moment's warning, and liniments and other outward applications are in themselves dangerous because they are liable to drive the disease to some vital organ and cause instant death. Rheumatism and neuralgia are diseases of the blood, and can only be reached by a remedy which will drive from the blood the dangerons acids. Such a remedy is Athlophores. I used Athlophores for one of these bad attacks and with but a few doses I was rid of the rheumatism and pain. Have you had any return of the disease? was asked. Yes, I have never used Athlophores stemily, as I am well satisfied to use it as I do. As soon as I feel the first symptoms of rheumatism I take a dose or two of Athlophores and thus avoid the attack.
